

ABSTRACT

A new design for a self-releasing surfboard fin and box is presented. The fin is held in the fin box by an attachment means that permits the fin to release easily when struck. The fin is 5 retained connected to the box and the board by means of a fin leash. The fin is easily reattached by inserting the fin and then re-tightening the attachment means.